Detailed Program

The instructor uses the course materials, which are tailored to the training objectives (the materials are provided at the beginning of the course). This course support material is divided into subjects.

All of these methods and exercises will help you put into practice what you have learned, when you return to your company.

Each subject is based on 3 axes:

Axis 1

The trainer gives a theoretical presentation of the topic, followed by any questions and answers.

Axis 2

Practical application exercise (individual work) to be completed within a set time limit. The trainer remains available to help and provide additional explanations.

Axis 3

Correction of the exercise, with all necessary explanations and any questions and answers. The trainer makes sure that each trainee has fully understood the exercise before continuing.
